

JANICE MACWHIRR – AGENDA

You are the Colonial Administration union organizer here on LV-426 and take your responsibilities very seriously. Naturally, you expect your workers to do the same. It's hard enough with the Weyland-Yutani bastards breathing down your neck, but if you don't get help from the workers, what hope is there? At least some, like Singleton, are supportive, although you'd sack Hirsch and Holroyd if you could.

-

You don't show it, but you love the people of Hadley's Hope. Now your friends are dying, and you must take revenge on the corporates for causing this crisis. Agent Reynolds and her science lackey Kominskey must pay for their crimes.

MORGAN HIRSCH – AGENDA

You've been cleaning up Hadley's Hope since day one and have seen and done it all. When you went AWOL from the Colonial Marines and into hiding here ages ago, you knew Hadley's Hope would be your home for the rest of your life. The only downside is MacWhirr. She's your boss and never lets you forget it, although the young Singleton doesn't much like you either.

-

*Some people fight inner demons – you've been sent these creatures to test your faith in God.
Light 'em up and show the devil who's boss.*

HANNAH SINGLETON – AGENDA

You've stood on your own two feet for as long as you can remember. The only lesson your useless parents taught you was that life was hard, and you have to be harder. You want to advance by any means possible, and if that includes ignoring a few principles along the way, then so what? You have your Company orders, so pretend to like MacWhirr and pretend to dislike Hirsch.

-

You are a Weyland-Yutani sleeper agent. Holroyd is a Company android, but he doesn't know you are on the payroll. He's suspected of disobeying company orders, so keep any eye on him. Also, news of this outbreak cannot be allowed to leak, even if it means putting an end to any of your "friends" that try to escape...

SONNY SIGG – AGENDA

You love your job as a lab technician, then those Weyland-Yutani inspection team scientists show up and treat you with thinly-disguised contempt. Hadley's Hope is just a way station for you before moving on to bigger and better things. You like Hirsch as he has an open mind, but MacWhirr acts as if she owns the place, and you.

-

That Weyland-Yutani inspection team won't be so snooty if you can leapfrog them and get an alien to the Company first. You just need to get a live specimen and get off LV-426 alive. Who will be laughing then?

HOLROYD – AGENDA

You are a Weyland-Yutani android. You've been on LV-426 for two years now, and you're a technician known for getting on with things without complaining. You try to get along with everybody and overall that works fine. However, you think Sigg spends too much time griping and not enough working, and for some reason MacWhirr dislikes you.

-

You know about the alien ship that crashed on LV-426, the alien eggs within, and why Miranda is here. You should cover it up, but you feel a terrible responsibility for what has happened. You must do everything you can to save your comrades, including sacrificing yourself, if need be.